Interested in working with me? PyImageSearch is HIRING

Adrian Chief PyImageSearcher   Jul 13

I hinted about this in my accountability thread earlier this week, but the time has finally come for the formal announcement. I am officially hiring at PyImageSearch.com. If you're interested, you can read more about the position here:

NOW HIRING: Computer Vision and OpenCV Correspondence Coordinator - PyImageSearch

PyImageSearch.com is now hiring a Computer Vision and OpenCV Correspondence Coordinator. Click here to apply for the job.

I encourage all PyImageSearch Gurus members to apply, especially if you have graduated from the course.

⌗ Adrian's updates and course CHANGELOG

ThamNgapWei   Jul 19

Is this the first step of the job boards you mentioned before?

Adrian Chief PyImageSearcher   Jul 19

Indeed it is. I've been working on the actual job board software and was tempted to launch it and use the Correspondence Coordinator position as a way to test the software out. But it was too early and I thought better of it. Once I get through the hiring process I'll be back to finalizing the jobs board and getting it online.

Jul 13

1 / 3
Jul 14

Jul 19

↩   ○